Dear Sir

I trust you will not feel over anxious about the book. Although I shall be very pleased to include it in the series as soon as it is ready, there is no need for hurry. In regard to the earlier historical part, there is no necessity to develop this to any great extent if you would prefer not to; the title of the book could, if it seemed desirable, be somewhat modified and a sub-title added. A full Explanation of recent developments will be of more interest than the details of past history. At the same time I think it is very desirable to record the chief stages of earlier development. The book will reach a good many people who are interested in the subject but do not know much about it, & the use of the historical method makes a subject much more easy of comprehension as well as more interesting.

It would be an advantage if you will let me have your proposed heads of chapters; it will in no way bind you down. In haste 18/13 H. Ellis.
