

We are doing our best to give the "Deutsche Revue" a wider circulation, and if, as we hope, we succeed therein, we shall be very glad to pay the authors the copy-money they deserve for their contributions.

Awaiting your kind answer, we are,
dear Sir,

yours faithfully
Deutsche Verlags-Anstalt.
Literarische Abteilung.

J. Müller
E. Mayer

Geo. F. Fitzgerald Esqre
Professor at the Trinity College.
Dublin.

DEUTSCHE VERLAGS-ANSTALT

Stuttgart, Leipzig, Berlin, Wien,

Ueber Land und Meer

Deutsche Roman-Bibliothek

Illustrierte Welt

Deutsche Revue

Aus fremden Zungen

Literarisches Schatzkästlein

Illustrierte Klassiker

Prachtwerke — Anthologien

Doré-Bibel — Märchen

Romane moderner Autoren

Musikalische Klassiker

Lexikon der gesamten Technik

Telegramm-Adresse:
Deva Stuttgart

Stuttgart, den 8. April 1895.

Dear Sir,

18/34

We have received from Mr. Richard Fleischer, the chief editor of the "Deutsche Revue", your article "The Future of physical Science" and are highly pleased about this contribution to our review for which we beg to thank you very sincerely. Your great sorrow we must confess that our review is not in such a financial position as to allow us to pay much copy-money, and as, in the present case, we have already to bear the translation-fee, we take the liberty to ask if you would not be so kind as to let us have your article without any pecuniary compensation from our part. You would thereby extremely oblige us.

Geschäftliche Sendungen sind an die Deutsche Verlags-Anstalt in Stuttgart — ohne Personenangabe — zu adressieren.
Für unverlangt eingehende Manuskripte übernehmen wir bezüglich des Prinjungsterminus und der Rücksendung keine Verantwortung.