

Trinity College, Dublin,
REGISTRAR'S OFFICE,

Feb. 22<sup>d</sup>, 1894

My dear Fitzgerald,

A cold, which threatens to be troublesome, obliged me to be absent from College one day and the better part of another at the beginning of the week. Had I been here, I should have written to you before now to say that the Board have under their careful consideration the statement of the Professor in the School of Engineering as to additional teaching in that school and Dr. Haughton's Report thereon -

I am yours very truly

J. K. Ingram

Professor Fitzgerald -
