

2 bed & 1 sitting room are his terms
I think we shall end with Miss Thompson, we have practically engaged ourselves to her for half July anyway.

Love to Harriette and the children

Dear George

The fees depend on what classes the students take; the ~~total~~ charges are as below. The courses provided for are

- 1st year, preparation for Roy. U. 1st exam. in Arts
- 2nd year preparation for R. U. 2nd Arts
- 3rd year " " " B.A.

and I assume that the student is not taking Chemistry for reasons mentioned below, also that he enters this College ad eundem as a matriculated student of the R. U.
Subject to these restrictions, and supposing the student takes out the 7/11

classes belonging to all the subjects he must take up in the R.U. exam.
 (which often does not apply in respect of modern languages) the fees would be as follows

1 st year	{ College fee for session	10. 0
	{ 5 subjects @ £2	10. 0. 0
2 nd year	{ College fee for session	10. 0
	{ 4 subjects @ £2	8. 0. 0
3 rd year	{ College fee for session	10. 0
	{ 3 subjects @ £2	6. 0. 0
	College fees	£ 25. 10. 0

The R.U. fees would be

Matric.	10. 0	} Univ ^y fees £ 3. 10. 0
1 st arts	1. 0. 0
2 nd arts	1. 0. 0
B. A.	11. 0. 0	Total £ 29. 0. 0 of Chemistry be taken, it involves practically ~~an~~ additional fee of £3 in each of the two later years, or £6 additional and is therefore usually taken only by medical and engineering students

 I think; there being a separate class fee

The R.U. 1st and 2nd arts exams. are held in Dublin and several centres, (except for honours, and subjects involving practical examination), B. A. in Dublin only.

I have a note from ^{last night} Charlie; he doesn't see buying us out, apparently; he takes it that our charge has precedence of the jointure. I am writing by this post pointing out that we have no object in not accepting this, and expecting our charge to be paid accordingly; but I think it would perhaps be well if you saw him.

Thank much for your writing to Mr Adams, and to Harriette for sending on Miss Lindsay's letter; Mr Adams has written to Harrie; £8 a month for
